Woman President. Two words that don't really click in some people's minds. Boys are better than girls. Girls aren't strong enough. Psh...girls can't play football. I guess girls can't do anything...is what you think. I believe that anyone of any race, gender, height and size can do anything if they just set their mind to it. If you haven't realized already, I think it's very important to have a female president. The universal follow-up answer/question you might be thinking is why? Why indeed. America has never had a female president, but America has done many extraordinary things, like phones that can be unlocked using your fingerprints, landing on the moon for the first time in 1969 and the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Women President 2016 should be next on the list of greatest accomplishments.

A lot of young women are put down because people think they aren't capable of doing a man's job. It's important for kids in my generation, to grow up and be able to fulfill whatever dream that they desire. Seeing a woman controlling the USA gives inspiration, hope, and guidance. It's time that we all took a stand.
